

SCHOOL LIFE

Students hurriedly leave the school at 3:30 and find their various ways home.

"Oooo! Does it bite?" Little Scott Powell views a poisonous spider under a microscope in one of the new science laboratories during the open house for the public. Mr. James Park looks on as John Powell and his family wait their turn.

"Oh Roy, Oh Roy, is zat yo' hoss?" Sandra Busch and Ronnie Morris "rock it out" at the Howdy Hop to one of the popular songs of '64.

The student center buzzed with excitement during enrollment the last three days of August.

BEGINS

School had started! The first weeks of school were devoted almost entirely to adjustment to a new building and new faces.

Every Senior began the year with a feeling of owning the school, every Junior with a feeling of belonging and every Sophomore with a feeling of bewilderment.

The first thing confronting the students was enrollment. To many it was a time of fun, but also to many it was a time for serious thinking.

Next came the Howdy Hop, a time of dancing and getting to know everyone.

On October 21, students served as guides for their parents at Norman High's Open House.

Vicki Raymond, Linda Dumas, Mary Martha Miles, and Veronia Farabee look apprehensively at their schedules for the 1963-64 school year.

"Step it up, you guys, only twenty-three more miles to go!" bellows Jonathan Thayer, drum major, as the band leads the victory march toward Owen Stadium for our triumph over Nathan Hale High School.

Tiger Spirit Reigns

"Tigers Triumph" is a good way to sum up the 1963-64 football season. Not always were we victorious, but NHS spirits soared just the same. The Gingersnaps, band, student body, and administration went all the way to support our big team this year. Among others, one event to remember was a snake dance down Main Street followed by a great bonfire in the school parking lot. A traditional victory march was held before our victory over Nathan Hale High School. The pep assemblies brought skits, laughter, yells, and encouraging speeches by the coaches and captains. Our award-winning band performed before games and during half-time shows. It was a great season and one to remember.

"Who's da bum?" That's Randy Glasscock alias Kathy Kuhlman at one of our "rip roaring" pep assemblies in the gym.

Tiger spirit is at its peak as Gary Williams, Ken Danner, and Quentin Remy raise the victory flag to the enthusiastic chants of the student body after the NHS victory over the Putnam City Pirates.

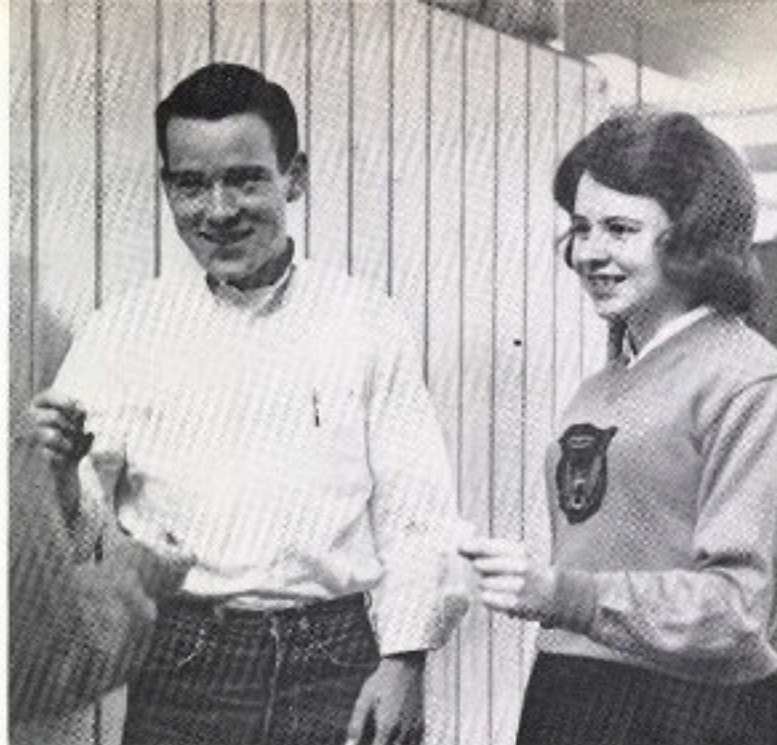

Gary Williams uses his destructive talents as he lights the bonfire where the Stillwater Pioneers were burned in effigy in the school parking lot. Quentin Remy gives his support with a gas can.

"Go Ye Tigers!" The tri-captains, Gary Williams, Quentin Remy, and Ken Danner, lead Johnny Thompson, Lain Adkins, Larry Berglan, Carl Smith, Tom Kahan, and the rest of the squad onto the field for the Capitol Hill game as the pep club cheers them on.

"Now, be in by 8:30." Mother (Susan Wilson) warns Junior (Tony Zule) in the Senior Class Play, "Harvey."

James Madden and Carol LeBlanc, top salesmen for "Harvey," try out their persuasive skills on an innocent bystander.

"Abner, will you please get off my toe!" wails Daisy Mae, Laura Williams to Gary Corrotto.

"Hey! They must have salted the ice!" discovered Susan Hallam and Sylvia Dumas.

You Were A

"Here we go 'round the Mulberry Bush!" sing Larry Cook and Sally Pitt at the Christmas Dance.

Jane Meyer smiles radiantly as Jim Wells, "N" Club President, crowns her All-Sports Queen.

Part Of This

Mrs. Mabel Ritzman makes up Gan Matthews Indian style for his role as Pappy Yokum in "Li'l Abner," while Ginnie Hohenberger awaits her turn.

"Tigers on to victory! Go! Go!" chant the chorus line, Mrs. Cleo Mosley, Mrs. Linda Driskill, Mrs. DaJuana Jones, Miss Hope Wood, Mrs. Amalia Fast, Mrs. Virginia Hughes, and Mrs. Karen McGuckin.

"I Wanna Hold Your Hand!" sings Jerri Jo Collins as Mrs. Lois Brandt and Betty Whitlock inspect Mr. Bones, and Earl Roley works diligently.

"But Mr. Upchurch, that's not Donald Duck, that's Mickey Mouse," corrects Carlos Droscher as Mr. Stanley Upchurch and his other students enjoy the cartoon.

Cheryl Craig screams in excitement as she learns that she has been named All School Queen for 1963-64, while Paula Powers and Guyanne Calame join in her enthusiasm.

Maria Kay Gill, Cheryl Gates, Linda Pratt, Cheryl Craig, Guyanne Calame, and Judy Miller display their marvelous talents in the Senior Talent Assembly.

Terrific Tiger Talent

The talent at Norman High School was revealed in the Senior Talent Assembly of 1963-64. Promising talent also showed up in such places as the geometry and biology classes, and the teachers' pep assembly. From present indications, Norman High School students and teachers will go far in the field of talent.

Cherry Kay Griffith arrives in her Dior original as Becky Berry looks on with awe.

"Look! Up on the stage! It's a bird, it's a plane! No! It's Big Daddy Grease and the Three Slicks!" Jim Lack, Larry Berglan, and James Strickland sing in the Senior Talent Assembly.

"I still don't think 'Return of The Zombies' is a very good theme for the Prom," says Laura Hill to Duane Draper and Ann Finney as James Elder expresses his views to an unseen party.

The beautiful decorations of last year's Prom, "Adventures in Paradise," helped to make it a great success.

'63-'64 Draws

The 1963-64 school year has had many joyous moments. The Senior Class Play, Harvey, and the All-School Musical, L'il Abner, were enacted with great skill and enthusiasm. The All-Sports Queen and All-School Queen coronations were beautiful and thrilling moments of the year. The Tigers soared to great heights in basketball, wrestling, and the other sports, winning the first annual Boomer Conference sportsmanship trophy.

"There goes Mr. Young. Now I can give the ladder a little push!" thinks Roy Harkey as Vic Miller and Don Allen decorate the student center for a dance.

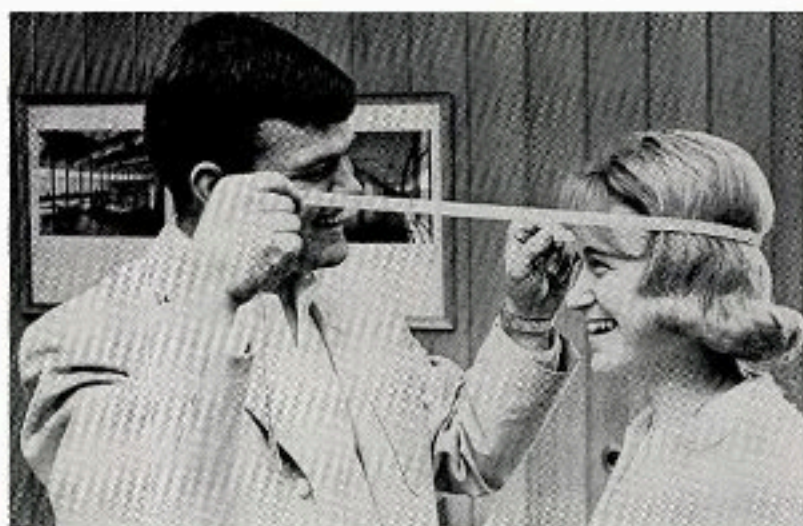

"Jumping Jehoshaphats! Did you hear what he said?" asks Ann Pilling of Steve Welty, as Nancy Herrick, Chad Rockett, and Bill Reese show a good deal of interest in Gary Winters' remark.

To A Close

The Junior Class presented their Prom, "Camelot," in a bright array of splendor. After the Prom came the end, Graduation. This has been a grand year at NHS and one you as Seniors will cherish as your last, you as Juniors as your breather between two wonderful years, and you as Sophomores as the beginning of your life in the home of the Tigers.

A bird's-eye view of a can of sardines? No, it's our flying photographer's view of the bleachers during an assembly.

James Strickland measures Lynda Hill's head for cap size as they prepare for the biggest event of the year, Graduation.
