

ORGANIZATIONS

Highlighting an all-school assembly was the Norman High School Band conducted by James A. Middleton.

Checking pages and planning were the basic jobs of Sponsor Richard B. Taylor and Editor Linda Pratt, who seem to have their work piling up on them.

"It wasn't enough that we sold a hundred and some-odd ads. Now we have to cut them up and paste them in the dummy," groan Co-Business Managers Carol Henderson and Judy Coles.

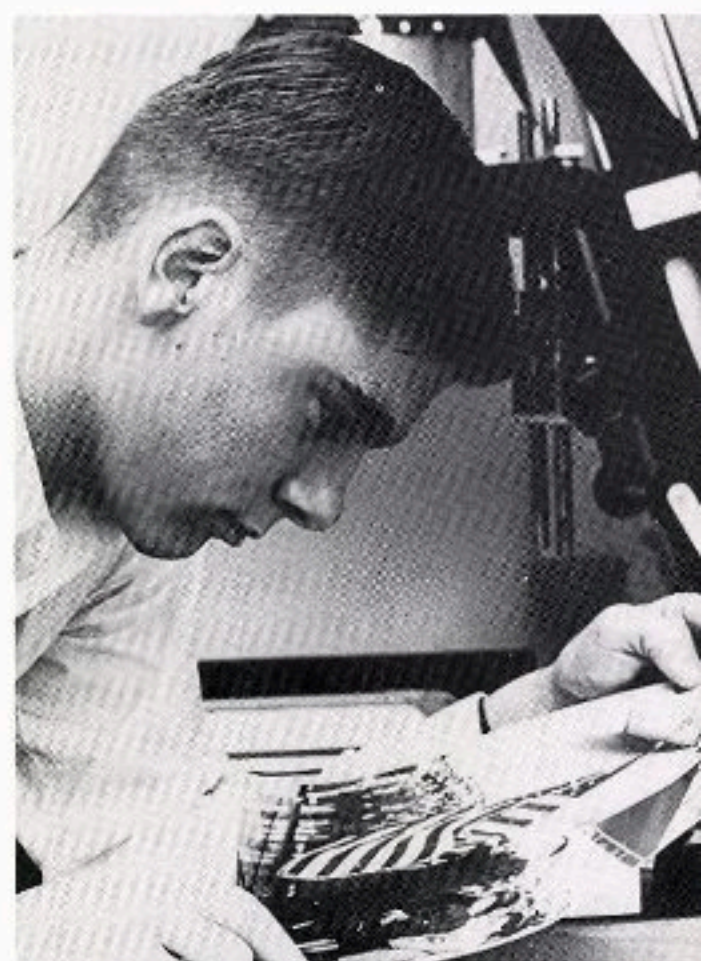

"No, Donnie, I didn't call you a 'dummy!' The dummy is the rough draft of the TRAIL," Sara Culp, Sports Editor, explains to Don Haral.

TRAIL Expands

Topping the agenda for the 1964 TRAIL staff was work, work, work. Their goal was to publish the best TRAIL that ever has been or ever will be distributed in Norman High School.

The best possible quality paper was used this year, off-set printing replaced letterpress, and the book was expanded to one hundred and seventy-six pages. With the addition of a dark room in the new science building, the photographers not only took the pictures, but also developed and printed them.

Pages were drawn up, pictures taken, copy written, ads sold, theme and cover design chosen, and editing and proof-reading completed. All this and much more were the duties of the twenty-one hard-working people who created this book for you.

Jim Shaubeger works diligently at printing in the dark room.

"Now don't forget, the picture must be in proportion to the page. Or is it the page must be in proportion to the picture?" Organizations Editor Ann Finney, center, teaches the art of cropping to Kay Snodgrass, Linda Kinnebrew, and Pam Oviatt.

"Are you a 1-2-3 girl?" asks Richard Booker, photographer.

"Which do you like best, Mary, full length faces or full length dresses?" Maria Kay Gill, Honors Editor, uses cut outs to plan her queen pages with Mary Male's helpful assistance.

"Just tell me one more time. Do we or don't we index teachers?" Barbara Wender wants to know. Jan Herron, Classes Editor, instructs Barbara and Melissa Martin in filing.

"I don't think we have quite enough pictures," Cathy Holman tells Jayne Price, School Life Editor, who is trying to draw up her pages.

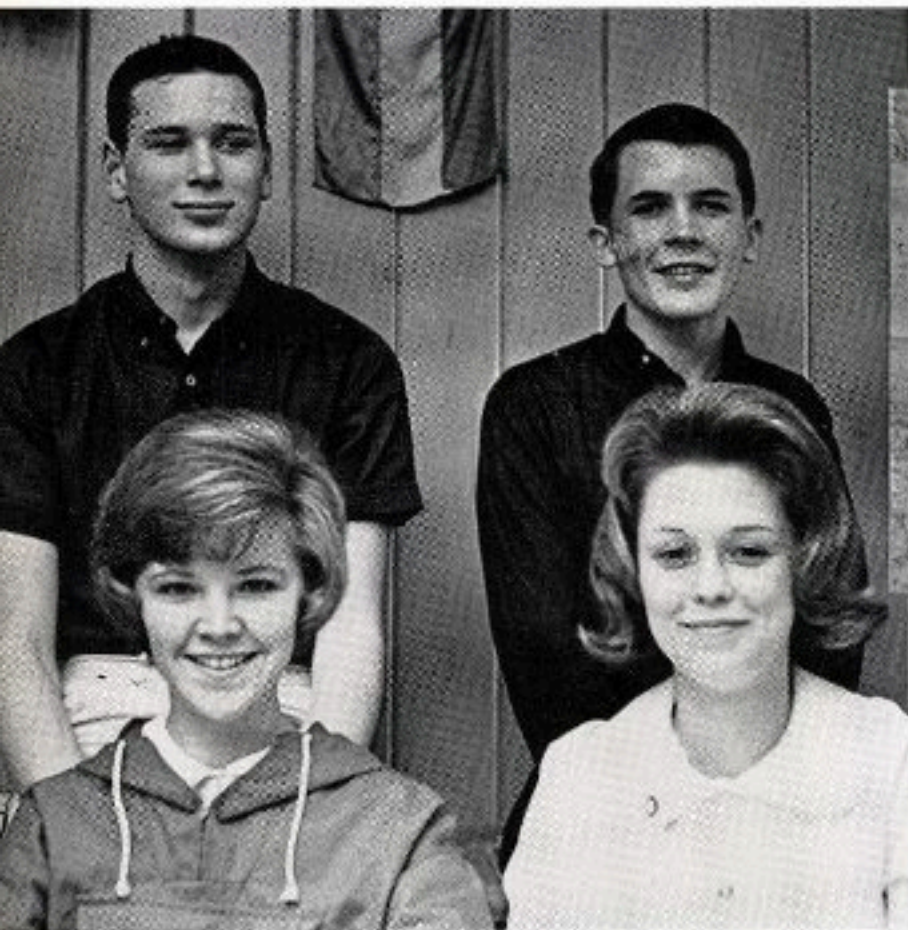

"Is this Tootsie Bell or Hazel Baby?" asks Becky Pierce of Academics Editor Judy Miller while planning their panels.

Presiding over a Spanish Club meeting is President Karen Green.

Spanish Club Studies

Spanish club officers were Joy Smotherman, Secretary; Karen Green, President; Duane Draper, Vice-President; and James Elder, Treasurer.

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Robert O. Sumter, the Spanish Club has tried to acquaint its members with Spanish culture. At the beginning of the year, Mrs. Beavers from Puerto Rico showed slides from her native land. In February the club elected Gloria Kerby Spanish-American Fiesta Representative. She represented Norman High at the Spanish Convention on April second and third. With Mr. Sumter's musical tapes the members practiced Spanish dances. At the end of the year, Bill Bavinger showed interesting slides of his trip with his family through Mexico.

Demonstrating the Spanish Twist are Jane Lockett and Bill Bavinger.

La Parisienne

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Virginia Bell, the French Club was started in 1958. This year's membership hit an all time high of 94. Nasr Boukadoum, an O.U. student from Algeria, spoke at a dinner attended by 73 members. A Bake Sale for the public netted over $90. The money raised will be added to a fund for either supporting a foreign orphan or a foreign exchange student.

Near Christmas time, members caroled in French, and had a party afterwards. In February, Judy Talley, a former NHS student, spoke about her year at Sorbonne. The grand finale of the year was the Spring Picnic.

At the close of the year, a French dictionary was given to the outstanding graduating student of French.

ster, Charlotte Dillard, Jenny Dingman, Meridee Bailey, Judy Bandy, Beverly Adkins, Cynthia Calkins, Mary Male, and Susan Hill.

ard Booker, David Clemens, John Creveling, David Carriere, Larry Buxton, Roger Geyer, Patty Hill, and Marilyn McCarley.

Ann Stinson models Roman garb for Jane Reeves, Brett Yohn, Nancy Herrick, and Patty Fowler.

"Save a place for Mark Antony!" Betsy Siegel, Joan Wilcox, and Jill Sellers have a good time at the Latin Banquet.

Highlighting the year for the Latin Club, founded in 1956 by Miss Ruth McSpadden, were programs on the private lives of the Romans. Professor Ian Thompson, visiting professor at the University of Oklahoma from St. Andrews, spoke to members on this topic. In March the annual State Junior Classical League Convention was held for Latin Club members from over the state. Helen Thayer, President, was nominated by the Norman High Chapter for State Treasurer. The annual Latin Banquet held in February gave pleasure to all members.

Activity Is The Ke

Mrs. Lucille White proudly accepts a corsage from the cast of "Li'l Abner" on the closing night.

Since 1957, Mrs. Lucille White has directed the Chorus Department of Norman High School. It consists of the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs, the Mixed Chorus, and four ensembles.

To begin the year, selected members of Chorus classes sang at the annual OEA Workshop. The best results of all previous years were achieved by the annual Candy Sale. In November, the NHS Chorus, together with the choruses of West and Central Junior High Schools, presented a joint concert. Delegates were sent to the Stillwater Choral Festival in December. Also, the Christmas Concert was presented for the public. The Chorus Department and the Speech Department combined efforts to perfect the fourth all-school musical, Pl Abner.

Word For NHS Chorus

Many members were privileged to attend the All-State Chorus at Oklahoma University in February, the District Contest in March, and the State Contest in April. Climaxing the year of activities were the Spring Concert and the singing at Graduation and Baccalaureate.

Officers of the Chorus Department were Margaret Langley, Secretary; Paula Powers, President; Janann Stringer, Historian; Jackie Myers, Reporter; Jim Hawkins, Secretary of Boys' Glee Club; and Jim McCaslin, President of Boys' Glee Club.

Members of the Girls' Quartet were Janann Stringer, Rosemary White, Judy Tiller, Jackie Myers, and accompanist Kay Ward.

Under the fine leadership of Mr. Bob Williams, sponsor, and Larry Harral, president, the Student Council carried out many school and community projects.

Jane Meyer and Cindy Bowlby share a private joke while upperclassmen Marilyn Coates and Dana Davis ignore them.

The Student Council, sponsored by Mr. Bob Williams, supervised many projects this year. Beginning the year with enrollment, the members helped both students and teachers. Several dances filled an exciting year. Among these were the Howdy Hop, Christmas Dance, Valentine's Dance, and the dance ending the Now or Never Week.

This important organization also charters all new organizations, sponsors school elections, works on civic projects, and handles student directories and the Parliamentary Procedure course. Willing Workers aid the Council without having membership. The Intramural Volley Ball Tournament concluded the year.

Completing an outstanding year for all members was the Annual Student Council Banquet held in May. At this time, the new officers for the coming year were announced. The accomplishments and goals of the Student Council of 1963-64 will long be remembered.

Student Council

ponsors Projects

Sharon Cramer, 1962-63 Student Council president, installed this year's officers—Susan Donnell, Secretary; Lynn Reed, Treasurer; Larry Harral, President; and Becky Berry, Vice-President.

Math Can Be Fun

Sponsored by Mrs. Kay Maddox, the Math Club was newly formed this year. They met once a month, and members learned about oddities of mathematics, like the Moebius strip. They tried to avoid textbook materials, and get the fun out of math. During the second semester, various mathematicians spoke to the club.

Speech Classes Win High Honors

Speech students, under the instruction of Mrs. Mabel Ritzman, have studied the fundamentals of speech, effective discussion, debate, radio, parliamentary procedure, and dramatic interpretation. In addition, they have presented the plays Harvey, starring Gan Matthews, and Mrs. McThing, starring Peggy Johnson and James Elder. Hard work was put into the All-School Musical, Li'l Abner, presented jointly by the Speech and Chorus Departments.

High honors were won by students at the district speech contests at OBU, OSU, Chickasha, and Lawton. By winning first places at these contests, seven students qualified for state competition. Mary Jane Gatchel placed first in the Voice of Democracy contest, and Linda Dumas won a trip to the U.N. for her speech about that organization. Certainly, these students have been a talented group.

First place winners qualifying for state contest were: Gan Matthews and Judie Childress, duet acting; Milke Elder, standard oratory; Duane Draper, radio; Linda Dumas, humorous duet acting; and James Elder, humorous duet acting and original oratory. Mary Jane Gatchel, center, won the Voice of Democracy Contest.

"I has spoken!" yells Mammy Yokum (Paula Powers) in Li'l Abner. Other members of the cast in the foreground are Gary Corrotto, Li'l Abner; Duane Draper, Earthquake McGoon; Laura Williams, Daisy Mae; and Marvin Gifford, Marryin' Sam.

"And another thing . . ." Rehearsing a scene from Mrs. McThing are Cindy Calkins, Mrs. McThing; Tony Zule, the Chef; and Gan Matthews, the Stinker.

Members of the debate team were Tony Zule, Judie Childress, Shannon Rice, Ralph Wilson, Duane Draper, Linda Dumas, and James Elder.

Tours Promote FJA Interest

Mark Miller, Treasurer, bothers other FJA officers Nancy Herrick, Secretary; David Meyer, Vice-President; and Anne Pilling, President; who are "trying" to type.

Founded by Mrs. D. L. Barnes in 1958, the Belknap Future Journalist Club of 1963-64, sponsored by Mrs. Nellie Childs, had twenty-five members. Among their many activities the members visited the Norman Transcript and Daily Oklahoman plants, went to the fall and spring Oklahoma Interscholastic Press Association meetings, and heard talks on newspaper work by Mr. J. F. Paschal, secretary of OIPA, and Mr. Dennis Whittlesey, editor of the Oklahoma Daily, first semester. A dinner was planned by the club for other journalism departments across the state. Membership is open to Trail and journalism students.

Dennis Whittlesey, editor of Oklahoma Daily, explains newspaper work to Walter Shaw, David Meyer, Meridee Bailey, and Kay Snodgrass.

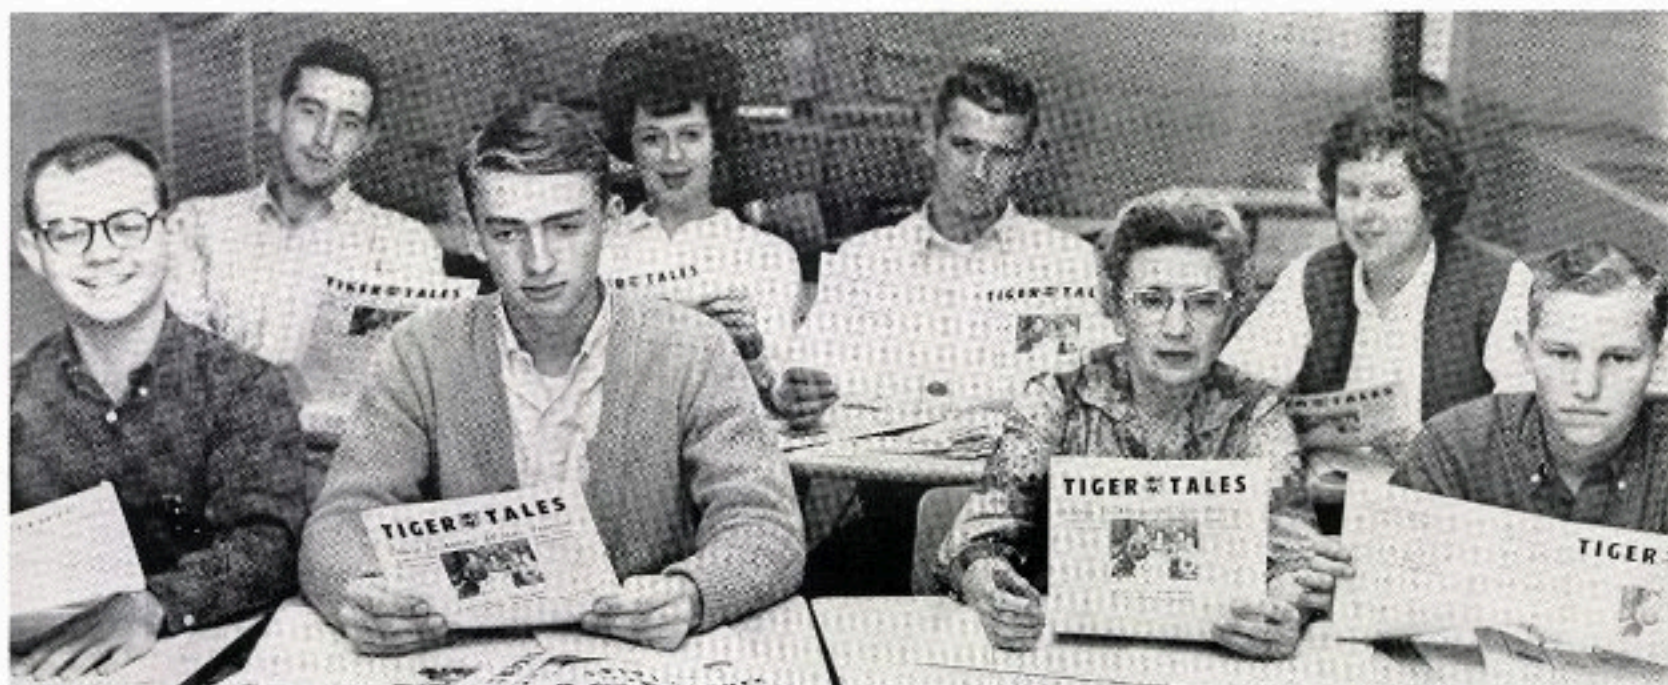

"Hold the papers steady, Anne, I've had a rough day," Mike Harmon begs Anne Pilling while Mrs. Nellie Childs, Walter Shaw, and Ed Bucher sort advertisements.

Tales Staff Everywhere!

Gathering news, planning pages and headlines, proofreading and selling advertisements are only small parts of the work which the seven editors, reporters, and Mrs. Nellie Childs, Tiger Tales sponsor, perform. During the year twelve issues of the paper are printed including special Christmas and senior issues. To promote sales the Tales staff did a take-off on the Beverly Hillbillies in their special assembly. The staff members have shown the ability and training to fulfill the jobs required. This year their work has proved exceptional.

"Keep your eye on 'em, Grannie, them city folks are tricky," Ed Bucher and Mike Harmon warn Mary Jane Gatchel as they stand guard at the Tiger Tales assembly.

DE Prepares Students

"I know you will like it. I use it myself." Jerry Pruett attempts to sell lipstick to Kay Snodgrass.

"I wonder who I could con into buying a size fifty-eight," ponders Terry Kizer.

In Distributive Education a student may hold a job during school hours and still earn credits toward graduation. Under the guidance of Mr. Hurshel Antwine, the forty-five class members elected officers Judy Harrell, President; Ellen Webster, Vice-President; Patti Nolan, Secretary; Farrie Young, Treasurer; Dick Whitsitt, Historian-Reporter; Linda Beardslee, Parliamentarian; and Mike Sharp, Chaplin. Farrie Young was elected DE Queen to represent the club at the three-day State DECA Convention. For a change of pace, the class held its annual breakfast meetings.

Mrs. Estelle Power and Linda Smalley examine winter fabrics at a FHA style show.

FHA Important To Community

Installation of officers began the 1963-64 year for the Future Homemakers, under the sponsorship of Miss Hope Wood. Mrs. Estelle Power of Powers Young Fashions discussed consumer buying and set the theme of "Winter Fashion" in a style show. Money-making projects were the selling of cookbooks and serving at a Locket Hotel dinner. "Youth Can Do," "Getting Acquainted With People From Other Lands," and "Remember the Aging," were the central goals of FHA this year. Each holiday the members made special items for the people in rest homes, bringing into focus the ideals of the club.

Future Homemakers were, First row: Vicki Pence, Vicki Loveless, Johnita Kay Wharton, Joyce Waters, Miss Hope Wood, Carol Taylor, Guyanne Calame, Jane Ann Fritch, Teresa Eoff, and Susan Sovick. Second row: Evelyn Burks, Kathy Kuhlman, Susan Easterling, Carolyn Meiser, Linda Richardson, Barbara Estridge, Carol Foss, Sandra Tullius, Paula Rich, Dianne Strickland, and Mary Lewis. Third row: Carol Cater, Irene Denney, Carolyn Kessler, Annette

Smith, Jo Nell Price, Jan Birmingham, Carol Miller, Beverly Rodgers, Shirley Brown, Carla Boeskin, and Kay Wilmeth. Fourth row: Mary Byers, Linda Smalley, Chris Hill, Kathy Jackman, Linda Brewster, Carolyn Grant, Katherine Daily, and Carol Dressell. Fifth row: Rheba Russell, Diane McDaniell, Barbara Young, Bonnie Galyen, Linda Autry, Jannelle Baker, Kathy Terhune, Eileen Adair, Carol Henderson, Layne Burton, and Sharon Neal.

Preparing angel decorations are Janice Webster, Mrs. Shirley Calkins, Lucretia Sakanich, Tony Zule, Susan Pace, Ann Adams, Margaret Warren and Jayne Price.

Paint Daubers Decorate Home

Beginning a whirlwind of activities, the Paint Daubers, led by President Susan Pace and Sponsor Mrs. Shirley Calkins, held its organizational party in September. The club was soon busy preparing advertisements and props for the All-School Musical, L'il Abner. Simultaneously, the members made posters for the Norman Nurses' Registration Tea and also made Christmas decorations for the Tate Nursing Home.

In February, the art club visited an OU art exhibit and prepared their own paintings for the Young Talent Show. In March, with the French club, the Paint Daubers heard an interesting lecture on French Art by Mr. Sam Olkinetsky, director of the O.U. Art Museum. Preparation for the Edmond contest and the Norman High School Art Exhibit kept the club busy during April. After a rewarding year of service, the club went on a relaxing sketching trip, and visited an out-of-town exhibit.

Preparing to dye their batik are Donna Kruis and Janice Tadlock while Steve Nelson, Karen Green, Lorna Guinn, James Strickland, Robin Tapken, Tom Swain and Carol Dressel look on.

Examining their sculpture around the table are artists Cherry Kay Griffith, Barbara Sellers, Geraldine Huffman, Lorrie Pierson, Nona Gordon, Bob Dillard, Kathy Allen, Neil Hollander, Linda Gray and Randy Waers.

Artists Learn Techniques

Instructed by Mrs. Shirley Calkins, art students have achieved an appreciation for, and realization of, the art in the world today. The first semester was devoted to design and color, drawing and perspective, and then painting techniques.

For the second semester, classes were divided into sculpture of all media; wallhangings, batiks, and caustics; paintings of all media; painting processes; and posters and commercial layout.

All students profited greatly from this fully productive course.

Around the table working with clay are art class members Liz Blair, Brenda Tracder, Rob Amspacher, Art DiVecchio, Janice Webster, Nick Caddell, Tommi Collins, Linda Felton, Joan Wilcox, Karen Mauldin, Barbara Wender and Jane Meyer.

Elizabeth Bell, President, and Mrs. Jean Orth, Sponsor, discuss upcoming projects.

Medical Health Careers Club, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Jean Orth, was formerly the Future Nurses of America, but the name and goals were changed in order that more students interested in all phases of medicine could be aided and informed. Many interesting speakers have appeared before the group bringing information on a variety of medical health careers available to young people. Among these were Dr. Bob Mayfield and Dick Luttrell, administrator at Norman Municipal Hospital. Projects filling this year have been: making stuffed animals for the children at Central State Hospital, helping the Heart Fund drive, caroling for the occupants of rest homes, and visiting the Cerebral Palsy Center. Also a field trip was taken to Carey, medical division of the Federal Aviation Agency in Oklahoma City, and St. Anthony's Hospital. Concluding a busy year was the State Rally held at John Marshall High School in April.

Medical Health Group

anne McElrath, Ann Alley, Kathy Monserud, Carol Powell, and Linda Smalley examine toys to be sent to the children at Central State Hospital.

Medical Health Career officers were Elizabeth Bell, President; Johnita Kay Wharton, Vice-President; Kathy McCray, Secretary; Linda Smalley, Treasurer, and Pruda Shank, Historian.

New Name and Goals

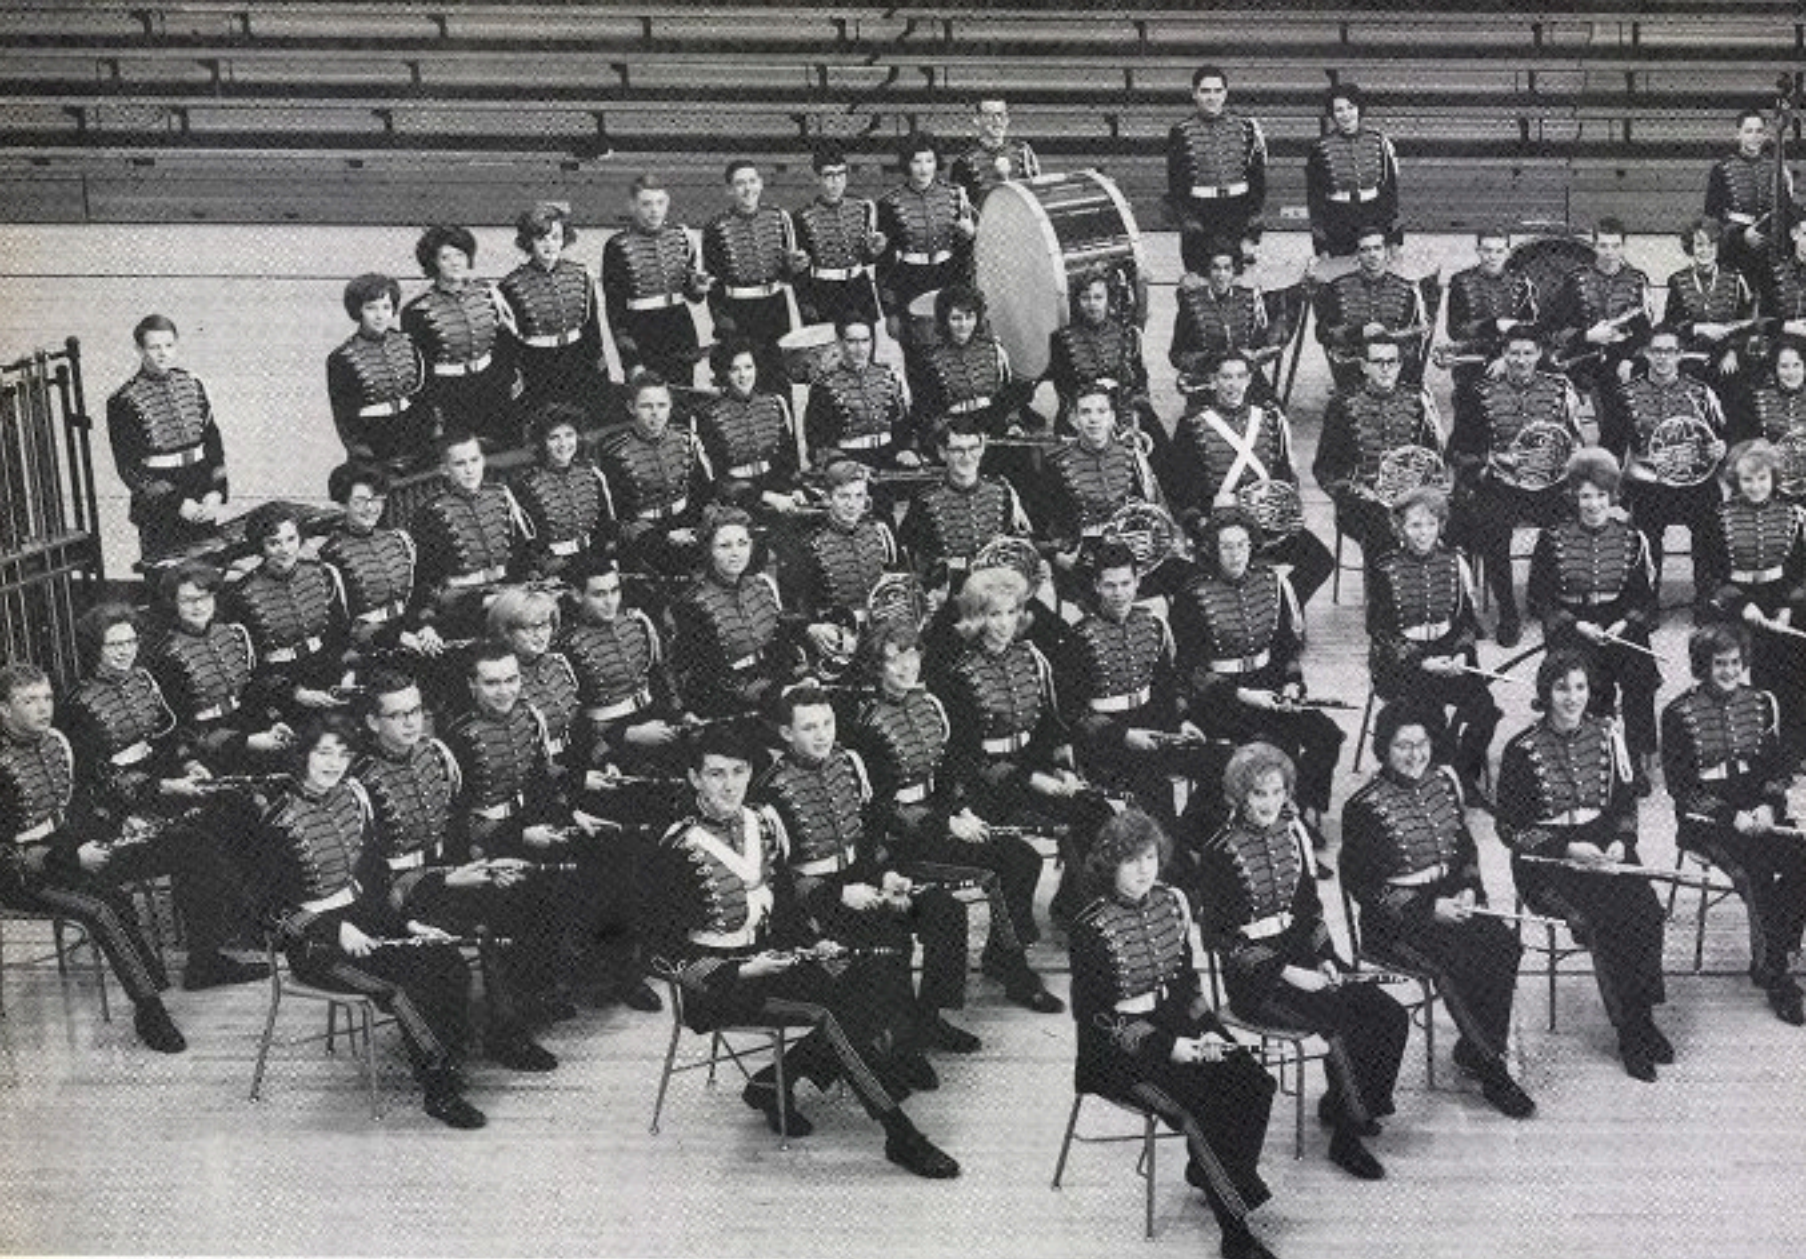

"Now girls, we'll amputate here," Johnita Kay Wharton tells Dianne McDaniel, Barbara Johnston, Linda Rhodes, and Glenda Houck.

Band Arouses Tiger Spirit

Seventeen stage band members gave an excellent performance at the annual Norman High School Band Concert.

Mr. James A. Middleton directs the band during first hour.

Band Council and Officers were, First row: Pat-
y Fowler, Secretary-Treasurer; Karen Boren, Executive Secretary; Charlotte Southerland, Sr.
Representative, and Helen Thayer, Jr. Librarian.
Second row: Nancy Braught, Jr., Representative;
Russ Dunn, First Assistant Drum Major; Bill
Stewart, President; Linda Stafford, Jr. Representative, and John Creveling, Second Assistant Drum Major. Third row: Pam Whitten, Librarian; Jim Amspacher, Soph. Representative; Donna Reed, Soph. Librarian, and Jonathan

Thayer, Drum Major. Fourth row: Roger Parsons, Vice-President; Larry Snider, Sr. Representative, and Bill Wilson, Sr. Representative.

Participating in many events throughout the year, the Norman High School Band, under the direction of Mr. James A. Middleton, and Mr. Harry Haines, marching director, finished an active schedule. Enthusiasm was the key word for members playing in school pep assemblies, games, and concerts. Sixteen band students attended the All-State Band and All-State Orchestra. Among the contests in which the Band competed were: State Marching Contest at Chickasha, Band Day Parade at the University of Oklahoma, concert contests at Central State College, and the Tri-State Festival. An annual program was given for the school in January. Each year two outstanding senior band members and one other outstanding band student are chosen. A great amount of work and pleasure finished this memorable year for the NHS Band.

Our industrious cheerleaders, Carol McDade, Kathi Straw, Mary Alice Eurton, Diane Mead, Sara Culp and Lynda Hill, have spiritedly led the school body during the '63-'64 sports season. Their hard summer and after-school practices earned them a first place at Summer Clinic, and an excellent rating at Winter Clinic. Certainly these girls are one of the best groups of cheerleaders Norman High School has ever had.

To become an NHS cheerleader is not an easy task. All candidates make written applications to the sponsors, who review their grades and Gingersnap attendance. Then the candidates must pass a written exam on all major sports. A panel of judges rates their individual and group cheerleading and pick the finalists. From these finalists, the Gingersnaps judge and elect their cheerleaders for the coming year.

Cheering Gingersnap

Planning the annual Norman High open house are Principal B. Roy Daniel, Gingersnap President Brenda Traeder, and Vice-President Laura Hallam.

Founded in 1925, the Gingersnaps have become one of the most important organizations at Norman High School. Its purpose is to promote spirit and sportsmanship for Tiger football, basketball and wrestling teams. The Gingersnaps, or Pep Club, have accomplished this by attending all home events. The organization has provided stirring pep assemblies, tags and banners; and has taken buses to out-of-town games to encourage traveling Tiger teams.

In addition to supporting interscholastic sports events, the Gingersnaps have performed many service projects. They sponsored the tea for parents at the annual fall open house. The coronation of the beautiful All-Sports Queen was handled by the Gingersnaps. To honor all lettermen and Gingersnaps with excellent attendance records, a picnic and dance was held in the spring. The Gingersnaps again participated in the collection for the Oklahoma Medical Research Foundation. At the end of school, as a special privilege, all Gingersnaps in good standing voted for their cheerleaders for the following year.

The leadership of Pep Club President Brenda Traeder, Sponsors Miss Florence Pevehouse and Mrs. Sue Kendall, and new sponsors Miss Hope Wood and Mrs. Karen McGuckin was greatly appreciated by all the members and by the entire school.

"N" Club Serves NHS

All lettermen who are able to withstand the strenuous initiation are eligible for membership in the Norman High "N" Club. This year, the "N" Club has been an extremely active organization. During the summer, the club held a car wash and a bake sale. The colorful orange and black trash cans around the buildings were painted by this organization. In October the "N" Club sponsored the exciting bonfire for the Stillwater game. The annual Christmas tree decorating was performed by the "N" Club members. In addition to selling the Tiger decals for cars, the lettermen also sold basketball programs at the home games.

But, naturally, the organization is not all hard work. The members elected and crowned their beautiful All-Sports Queen, Jane Meyer, and sponsored a dance for the student body. The guidance of sponsors, Coach Wray Littlejohn and Coach Bert Corr, and the leadership exhibited by President Jim Wells has been highly productive in service to Norman High School.

For Service

Officers of FFA were: John Potts, Billy Tucker, David Meiser, Ted LaMar, Mickey Haynes, Dale Horton, and Phil Dees.

"Head 'em up! Move 'em out!" FFA members and Mr. Herb Mackey join forces to move a cow into a stall.

Their motto, "Learning to do, doing to learn, earning to live, living to serve," states the aim of the Future Farmers of America.

Mr. Herb Mackey has sponsored the Norman FFA Chapter since 1948. Each boy uses the experience he receives by giving community service and working in the Farm Shop on his project.

If they wish, the boys can enter their projects in the County Fair and the Oklahoma State Fair. Each boy must enter the local livestock show in March.

Some activities for this year were a three-day camping trip, a visit to Oklahoma City Stockyards and Wilson's Meat Packing Plant, election of the FFA Queen Becky Berry, the Candy Sale for the Local Livestock Show, and the Spring Banquet.

FTA Holds Convention

Acquainting aspiring students with the requirements, benefits, and responsibilities of a teacher in today's world was the goal of the Future Teachers of America. This year, led by president Jon Thayer and sponsor Mrs. Mary Gatchel, the Garrison Chapter boasted fifty-five members.

In October, Norman High was the host school for the annual FTA Fall Leadership Convention. All members participated in this endeavor. In November, the presidents of the Oklahoma Education Association and the Classroom Teachers Association spoke to the group about their respective organizations. To gain practical experience in teaching and to aid Norman High pupils needing help in their studies, the club set up a Students' Assistance Program.

Various speakers in the spring included Dr. Lloyd Williams, suggesting teachers' role in the world today; Miss Sylvia Pittman, outlining teachers' certificate requirements; and Mrs. Virginia Bell and Mrs. Amalia Fast, discussing European education.

To gain new pointers in leadership, the '64 officers, officers-elect, and interested members attended the weekend Spring Convention at OSU.

Celebrating a year of hard work, the FTA members held their annual May party.

Jonathan Thayer, President, Ann Finney, Secretary; Pam Whitten, Treasurer; Mary Ann Reed, Vice-President; and Jennifer Ragsdale, Historian; are installed as '63-'64 FTA officers.

Mrs. Mary Gatchel, sponsor, successfully guided the Future Teachers of America.

Preparing the welcome banner for students attending the FTA Fall Leadership Convention are Garrison Chapter members Sandy Yarbrough, Marilyn McCarley, Jennifer Ragsdale, Betsy Siegel and Mrs. Mary Gatchel.

Registering FTA members at the FTA Leadership Convention held at Norman High are Norman members, Vera Beth Phillips and Pruda Shank.

Presenting his ideas on the role of a teacher in today's world is Dr. Lloyd Williams of the University of Oklahoma.
